

To: Hiring team at Digitaal Vlaanderen / Vlaanderen Connect

Dear,

I am writing with genuine enthusiasm about the “Data Scientist Expert AI & Analytics” position at Digitaal Vlaanderen. This role feels like it was written for me. Above all, I am looking for a job that contributes to society and gives me a sense of purpose. The commitment of Digitaal Vlaanderen to inspire and engage local governments and build data and AI driven solutions is something that connects strongly with my core motivation to contribute to society and work with Data and AI technologies to boost productivity.

Work with purpose and a social impact is also something I have looked for in the past in multiple roles. An example is at VGC, my task was to to architect, develop and implement solutions to support schools. But also to inspire and engage teachers and students to discover more modern teaching and learning tools.

While my earlier job titles haven’t always had Data or AI in their titles, a significant portion of my 10+ years in IT revolved around data related responsibilities, fueling my passion for AI and Data. This growing passion contributed to focussing on AI and Data since my role at Bencode.

I'm confident that my lifelong passion and experience in tech, together with my soft skills will allow me to quickly integrate into your team and contribute meaningfully to building insightful AI and data solutions that deliver real value to local governments and citizens.

I look forward to discussing how I could benefit your team and would be pleased to elaborate further in an interview. Please contact me at your convenience to arrange a conversation.

Sincerely,

Gerrit Geeraerts
